↻ A New Look for Gaines Street ↻

The City of Tallahassee will soon start the second phase of construction on Gaines Street. This phase will begin the physical reconfiguration of the road, with construction taking place from east of Railroad Avenue east to Monroe Street, which will include closing two lanes of traffic. Our upcoming e-newsletter will provide more details about the construction plans. This special edition is to announce that...

Work begins at 9 a.m. TODAY, Tuesday, May 25, 2010.

Construction is always an inconvenience, but the future of Gaines Street is bright! To help promote the changes that are coming to Gaines Street, both currently and in the future, and to capture the spirit of those changes, the City produced a flash mob video.

Find out what all the hype is about by visiting Talgov.com/Gaines, YouTube, Facebook and/or Twitter. The sites also include a Making of the Flash Mob video that details why the production was made and shows bits from the countless hours put in by over 150 Tallahassee residents who volunteered their time and skill to take part in the video. The links to both videos on both sites are below.
